SAVING BANK.

BANK MAUA & Co.

—N. 103 calle Cangallo.—

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt, and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the Bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city, a safe & profitable depositary for their savings,

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, workingmen & servants [of all classes & conditions] who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in latteries and other frivolties.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city following the example of their firm in Montevideo now offer the same facilities in this city and will open on the 1st October a "Savings Bank" at No. 103 calle Cangallo from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m on week days; and on Sundays and holidays from 10 a.m. to 12 m for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a Pass Book in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited, in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá and Co is sufficiently known to the public by the benefits derived from the course of its operations which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles and always directed to promote the general Welfare

The Bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood,

Bs. Ayres Septembre 19th 1853.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1863.

OUR POLITICAL CHAPTER

Public attention is about equally, divided between Flores and the Chacho who are performing the parts of Dick Turpin and Robin Hood respectively, in the Argentine and Oriental Republics. The romance of their exploits procures for each a number of admirers, although, in reality, the heroes of Rioja and Las Piedras are but troublesome outlaws. Flores, with 1000 light 'gaucho' cavalry, has over-ridden the whole of the Uruguay, and ultimately laid siege to Montevideo. But the want of infantry compelled him to forego the accomplishment of his daring ambition, and latest accounts show that he has again taken to the open camp, where he may laugh at the Government armies. He has taken all the best horses in the country, and, like the last of the Horatii, confides in defeating in detail his three crippled adversaries, Medina, Moreno, and Lamas, who follow him, haud passibus aequis. His good fortune, however, and his troops seem beginning to desert him; and it is likely his army will now dwindle down to a band of freebooters, who may cause serious injury to the rural interests, but must prove powerless in a political sense.

General Peñaloza, alias Chacho, was said to have escaped a month ago to Bolivia, with five attendants; but we learn he has re-appeared at the head of 1000 men, and threatens to invade San Juan. His head-quarters are in Rioja, where his influence is so universal that he can dictate terms of conciliation with the National Government. As he has offered to come to an arrangement, it is to be hoped that we shall not have a repetition of those useless military expeditions which have hitherto produced only windy despatches and great expense.

We have been charged by some members of the Nat. Government, with giving a gloomy account of the state of Argentine affairs. but our object being to inform our European readers of the true condition, rather than to please the potentates of the hour, we neither conceal the Chacho's inroads with 1000 freebooters, nor wink at the diabolical invasion of the Banda Oriental, under the pretence of Liberty. Meantime life and property in B. Ayres are perfectly safe, and wholly unprejudiced by these remote disturbances; so that immigrants need not be deterred, and capitalists may confidently embark in our local enterprises, without fear of ill-effects from the rashness of our politicasters.

INDUSTRIAL REVIEW.

Since the sailing of the French packet very little of importance has transpired. Congress is still in session, but will shortly be closed. Several useful measures have been passed, but none commanding any interest for our foreign readers, save that respecting the payment of the interest and instalments of the national debt in London. Much opposition has been made to this measure by our local politicians, who dread any dealings with European nations since the fate of Mexico; but these views are only entertained by men alike destitute of position or influence amongst us. The Senate has passed the measure, and it only now has to pass through the Deputies to become a law. The Argentine Republic has as yet no debt abroad, and would probably have none at home were it not for the scandalous anarchy and revolution of former years. The present debt of the nation is so insignificant, that it is hardly worthy of notice; but as many of our English houses hold these securities in payment for goods sold, we think it right to inform our friends at home of their real value. So much depends, however, on our having peace in this country, that it is impossible for us to say what is the intrinsic value of these securities. They command an interest of 6 per cent., and are redeemed by certain yearly payments or instalments: for our part, we consider them equally secure and valuable as the bonds of Buenos Ayres, which are at present selling in London at 96.

Dr. Velez Sarsfield, who has filled the chair of Hacienda or Finance for the last twelve months, has resigned, and Dr Elizalde, who hitherto acted as Minister of Foreign Affairs, now fills Dr. Sarsfield's place. The foreign community do not much regret Dr Sarsfield's retirement from office. He it was who introduced our present monstrous custom-house tariff, which is proving not only prejudicial to commerce, but highly injurious to the industrial interests of the whole country.

The President has appointed several new Consuls-general and Consuls since the sailing of the last packet, whose names will be found in another column.

A rather important Government decree has been recently published respecting the payment of Consular fees in foreign ports. We translate and insert it in another column Four months from the date, vessels arriving here without the Consular certificate will be fined in double the fees charged. It behoves, therefore, our foreign merchants and shippers to obtain the Consular certificate required by law.

Probably one of the most important incidents of the fortnight has been the launching of a new river steamer, by Mr. John Marshall, of Barracas, who has the honour and credit of having constructed the first screw steamboat in the River Plate.

We may here state that the engine, of 8-horse power, was made by the eminent firm of Saunders and Keyser, the boiler and frame-work by Mr. John Marshall, and the wood-wook by Mr, Anthony. Thus every particle was B. Ayrean manufacture, and due to one or other of our industrious countrymen. The Anglo-Argentina is a screwboat 60 feet long, 10 feet beam, 37 ton burden, and draws 18 inches water. She cost about £1,00, and has been built for running between Baradero and San Pedro, in conjunction with the Pavon. Mr. Marshal is constructing another (much larger) steamer, to be called the "Era," for plying from Gualeguaychu to Fray-Bentos; the engines are coming out from England, and she will be launched before the end of the year.

Respecting cotton, we are pleased to say that the Governor of Corrientes is setting a noble example to the rest of the provinces. We have supplied his Excellency with over a ton and a half of cotton seed of various descriptions: his example has had a good effect. The majority of the estancieros of that province have planted, or are about to plant cotton on their estancias, and we confidently predict that in a few years cotton will take the place of wool and hides, and become the first staple of the Argentine Republic. The National Government has done little to help us in this cotton enterprise, which we sincerely regret, as none can doubt the immense impetus which cotton-planting would have received had the President of the nation lent to cotton the influence and support which he confers on less deserving matters.

The present state of the provinces, if not all that could be desired, is yet such as to afford hopes of peace and tranquillity. Penaloza, commonly called the "Chacho," has made his appearance in a distant part of the Republic, but has sued for peace. We have every reason to believe that the fellow will be allowed to remain in the province of La Rioja, conditional on his good behaviour.

In the Province of Buenos Ayres everything is going on well. Foreigners are improving the appearance of the place both in town and country, and property is increasing in value. Business in town is dull. We regret to be obliged to notice the failure of a French house, Boutinet and Co. The liabilities are heavy, and the assets small. A more discreditable failure we believe never before occurred in Buenos Ayres.

A meeting of the stockholders of the San Juan Mines has been recently held in this city. The proceedings have not been published. but it affords us the greatest satisfaction to state that the company is in sufficient funds at present, and that no call will be made until funds are required for the purchase of ore.

Respecting our water schemes, we have nothing new to remark, except that a new project has been sent in by a Mr. Davenport of London, whose estimate is considerably less than the others. The municipality is one of the most tedious institutions in this country, and it is difficult to say when the matter will be finally resolved.

The camps of this province are now in splendid condition, and the sheep-farmers doing well. Next month the shearing begins, and then our busy season sets in.

The Buenos Ayres Northern Railway Company is doing an excellent business. The slight damage which it suffered in the last storm was of such a nature that it is hardly worth remarking. We are informed by the talented manager, Mr. Zimmerman, that the road will probably be open to the town of San Isidro before the sailing of next packet.

The Maua Bank opens a savings bank on the 1st prox. It is a thing much wanted, as labourers and mechanics hitherto had no way of putting by their earnings. This bank is doing a large business, probably the largest in this city.

The River Plate Bank, which is also doing well, has recently purchased a most valuable piece of property in one of the most central locations in town. We have not heard whether it is the intention of the manager to move or not from his present position.

The Provincial Bank is very flush with both paper and gold at present, and discounts liberally. Its new machinery for printing notes has been just put up, and we believe reflects the greatest credit on the English manufacturer.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Police fines for the week ending 16th inst amount to $4,200 or 600 per diem. If this splendid rental were appropriated towards supplying the city with drainage and water supply it would yield positive benefit to the public, and many of us would get fined for sport. We are happy to see in the list of 75 trespassers only one English name. This speaks well for our general good conduct.

By a strange coincidence the benefit for Torres' family produced 15,000 dollars, just the very sum which caused that actor's flight, it being the amount lent him by D. Sisto Fernandez, which is still due, although the latter is held up to public infamy for seeking payment. The benefit should have been for Fernandez.

On Wednesday evening an Italian grocery, at the corner of calles Tucuman and Junin, was robbed by some scoundrels. who effected an entrance through the wall, and carried off the contents of the till. It is probable the police are anxious to know the guilty parties.

The obsequies of Colonel Sandes took place yesterday at the College Church, Mme. Noronha and his orphan children attending, with a concourse of friends of the deceased hero. This is good taste, and for reconciliation of his ashes we should suggest a funeral service for poor Tijera, whom the "Nacion" supposes he shot inadvertently. This will chancel accounts.

"Le Progress" mentions a poor woman aged 70, who was knocked down by a cart, on Tuesday, at the corner of calles Esmeralda and Corrientes. The driver never stopped to pick her up, but the poor cripple was taken into a house hard by, and finally conveyed to hospital. There was no policeman at hand.

Our French colleague very properly gives a severe reprimand to the "Litoral," which holds up General Mitre's Government as worse than that of Rosas. We can never expect peace and order, so long as the "Tribuna," "Nacional," and Dr. Carriego, agitate their simple readers with such cock-and-bull stories as are retailed at 40 dollars a month.

Fifty copies of Major Rickard's book arrived per La Plata, for Messrs. MacKern. It is published we believe at half a guinea, and as the supply will be inadequate to the demand, we advise our friends to provide themselves at once.

The Mersey leaves to-morrow, and the mail nominally closes this evening at the Consulate, but a bag will be kept open till noon on Sunday for receiving unpaid letters.

From the 1st prox. a new diligence will run from the capital to Tandil, via Ranchos. The whole mail-coach system of the South has improved wonderfully since the late rains, horses being substituted for oxen. We expect to hear no more complaints of irregularity in despatching our papers, on which the mayorals levy an impost of 4 reals per copy.

The expected arrival of 4 Paraguay war-steamers in these waters has given rise to various conjectures: we cannot pretend to divine the motive, but ascribe no political importance thereto.

The Spring Meeting at the Argentine Racing Club will come off on Sundays, the 11th and 18th October, at the Belgrano course. It would seem that our countrymen are forgetting their national amusement, and we hope some sport-loving genius will revive the drooping spirits of our amateur jockeys.

The Rojas garrison had a festival on the anniversary of Pavon (17th.) the 3rd regiment being formed in review in the Plaza, after the benediction of the new flags presented to them. Gen. Emilio Mitre harangued them in a brilliant discourse, and his lady gave a grand ball in the evening.

The Western Railway has just received a valuable consignment of 50 waggons and several articles of machinery, per steamer La Plata Mr. Allen head of the workshops, is also constructing a smoking saloon, and other improvements, having brought this department to such perfection that there is scarcely any necessity of sending to England for railway furniture.

The French packet is expected today. She will probably bring us important news of the American war, and possibly a new feature in the European drama of "Napoleon and Poland."

We perceive that the River Plate Bank at Montevideo advertises for a cashier: this is a good opportunity for an English clerk who understands Spanish, and is not nervous about sieges.

AN INDIAN TRAGEDY.

In a letter from Bragado, published in the native papers, we read of a melancholy occurrence, indicative of the gross superstition among the Indians, and the terrible consequences which might have ensued, owing to the neglect of our Government in their instruction.

The tribe of Coliqueo is composed of friendly Indians, who serve as an excellent frontier garrison against the inroads of their more savage brethren of the Pampas, on the side of Bragado. In the village of that name, the wife of Justo Coliqueo died of small-pox, a few days ago; and Justo, who is the eldest son of the cacique, was persuaded by his mother that she fell a victim to the sorcery (gualicho) of one of his father's concubines. The passionate youth at once flew to the cacique's toldo and demanded the witch, that he might avenge himself in her blood, for the loss of his wife. To this the father would nowise assent, and the difficulty being grave, a general parley of all the chiefs was called.

The trial proceeded in proper form, for Indian justice is, perhaps, less adulterated than our own. The arguments on both sides were duly heard and considered, in application to Indian traditional codes, and the accused woman was acquitted. But the widower Justo was not satisfied with the decision, and rushing to his father's rude seraglio, he singled out the object of his superstitious hatred, and stabbed her mortally in the back, while she and her alarmed companions were endeavouring to escape. This was in the very presence of the cacique, who, enraged, threatened to slay his murderous son on the spot; but a younger brother, Simon, interposed with a blunderbuss levelled at his father, in defence of Justo.

A terrible scene of confusion ensued, most of the warriors rushing in to prevent the deadly strife between father and sons. Then the brothers, Justo and Simon, escaped and fled for protection to the toldo of Ralmuqueo, the second cacique of the tribe, and inferior to Coliqueo in authority and influence. The latter demanded that his rebellious sons should be delivered up; but their protector vindicated the refuge demanded, by meeting Coliqueo in battle. The fight began, and preparations were made on either side to annihilate the adversary, when luckily the Christian garrison, being apprised of the event, sent a respectable force with an embassy of mediation, under the cacique Radef. Partly by friendly offices, and partly by the disposal of strong picquets at each 'toldo,' peace was restored, and the old cacique and his son Justo wrote letters (in broken Spanish) September 10th to Commander Perez, assuring him that the past was forgotten, and the utmost harmony renewed.

Cacique Coliqueo says, in a touching manner, "I fancy my indignation at seeing my favourite son slay my wife; I forgot he was my first-born, and was about to kill the author of a deed so criminal in Indian law. But then I reflected that it was too late for remedy, and I said, 'a father should not avenge a woman's death in the blood of his son. His crime was great, but I am an Indian, and know how to reflect calmly on all things. I thank your mediation and expression of condolence, but assure you, that were it not my son I should have slain him, cost what it might, and cut out the evil from among us. But now it is all over, and I have pardoned him.'"

There is really something sublime in the simple, grand, and philosophical reasoning of the cacique, which reminds us strongly of Burke's beautiful episode, 'The Indian Chief.' To what advantage might not such men be turned, if Government only imitated the Jesuits in efforts to civilise them, not with musket and sabre!

SAN JUAN RIFLES.

Hotel de la Paix, Sept. 24, 1863.

Gentlemen,

Might I request you will be good enough to correct a statement, appearing in your journal of to day, to the effect that his Excellency the President had asked me to proceed to San Juan in a military capacity. I beg to state, most emphatically, that his Excellency never mentioned such a subject to me, and the only circumstance which might give rise to such a report, would be the fact of his having granted me permission to arm the engineers and workmen forming the staff of the San Juan Mining Company, for their own protection, against 'montoneros,' or other troublesome folk who might present themselves on the road.

With regard to the new corps of Chasseurs of the Line (Rifle Brigade), of which you state I have been gazetted commander, I beg to state, that having offered to instruct them in the new drill, as practised at the Government School of Musketry, at Hythe, his Excellency did me the honour to accept it, and named me 'honorary' major of said brigade, at the same time, it being distinctly understood, that by such rank my nationality as a foreigner remained intact.

During my leisure hours at San Juan, it is my intention to instruct my battalion and perfect them in the use of the rifle, as the best and surest means of exterminating, root and branch, the hordes of 'montoneros' and assassins who infest the upper provinces, and retard so materially the march of civilisation and industry. I shall not, however, allow any military enthusiasm I may be possessed of, to alienate my attention from the principal object of my mission to the interior, that of developing the mineral resources of the country, and complying with a solemn duty entrusted to me—that of attending to the interests of the shareholders of the San Juan Mining Company.

I remain, Gentlemen,
Yours very truly,
F. IGNACIO RICKARD, F.G.S., &c.

CHASCOMUS.

September 19, 1863

Gentlemen,

A free journal is the true standard of free men. On this principle I claim the right of your 'Standard' to make public a case which is a stain on our society. I am sorry to trouble your readers with long details, but I must take the matter from the very beginning.

Joaquin Piñoneri, a Spaniard, and J. M. Auzam, a Frenchman, had a quarrel about a year ago in one of our public billiard-rooms. Auzam challenged Piñoneri to box him, which this fellow, although big enough to meet two like his competitor, did not accept. But he wanted vengeance: the darkness of night and the poinard were his arms. He waited on his rival and gave the terrible blow, which fortunately had not the desired effect, and ran away, like a cowardly murderer, at the screams of his victim. Soon after he was in prison, but he had a few friends, probably of the same views, who thought the crime he had committed a trifle. The well-known trick of 'compadres' came on, they settled with Auzam that Piñoneri should pay 2,000 dollars to the poor; and the justice of peace, contrary to his duty, set Piñoneri at liberty. This ruffian, after stepping from prison, never thought of fulfilling the debt he had contracted. We caution, with this example, other justices of peace, for we hear it is very common in camp districts to have these private judicial money arrangements. Auzam, after being so sadly disappointed, went to town, and soon came the order to put Piñoneri in irons, and send him to Dolores. He was again in prison for ill treatment to his wife. He was taken to Dolores, and sentenced to four years on the public works, in Bahia Blanca; but much to our astonishment, we see he has remained confined in prison in this town.

On dit, that two blue bank notes saved him of this trouble. This is the man that Messrs. Anas and Reyna requested signatures for a petition to the Government, on the memorable day of the great battle, to restore this ruffian to society. These two gentlemen probably pity their friend and compatriot, because they know too well what is life in the 'carcel.'

We should heartily like the following Government answer:—'On this day that so much gunpowder and shot has been thrown away to clear the public of the mazorquero nuisance, we intend to do the same with the dagger society members." Unfortunately such will not be, and we expect to see the contrary.

Apropos, we should like to ask the ruffian's friends where are the 20,000 dollars he intended giving the poor, and if he has not disposed of them, he may act so as to show that honour may exist in a murderer's conscience?

We are sorry to see the names of honest neighbours in the petition. They say they have done it for the sake of humanity, but we say for ignorance, stupidity, or malignity.

We pray, Mr. Editor, to lend your word in favour of this, to put a stop to the practice long in vogue in the camp of making murderers members of our society.

A STANDARD SUBJECT.

FOREIGN SHIPPING.

The Argentine Government has passed the following decree:

Art. 1. All vessels coming from ports where Argentine consuls have been named, must have their Manifests viséd in proper manner by such Consul, under pain of paying double the Consular fees, the same to be recovered at the Custom-house, one half to be devoted to the National Revenue, and the other half given to the proper Consul.

Art. 2. This fine of double-fees, above mentioned, will be put in force, 4 months after date of this decree, recovering in the mean time only the usual fees ordained by Art. 3, of the law 7th. Nov. 1862.

THE WATER SCHEME.

The Municipality has applied to the Minister on the subject of supplying water and constructing sewers in the city of Buenos Ayres. The following project of law has been introduced:—

Art. 1. The Municipality is authorized, for the purpose of supplying the city with water, to emit bonds or shares to the value of $500,000 fuertes, bearing a maximum interest of 7 per cent., with an amortization of 2½ per cent. per annum, the payment of which is guaranteed out of the special imposts which the Municipality shall establish (with the previous approbation of a competent authority) upon the water supplied in the city, and in case this shall not be sufficient, from all or a part of the revenue of the said Municipality, which has no special destination.

2. These bonds shall be negotiated at par, or shall be paid to the contractor of the works.

3. The materials necessary for the work shall be admitted free of duty.

B. LLORENTE, Secretary.

The foregoing law has been brought in by the Municipality, and there is every probability that it will be passed by Congress.

MISCELLANY

THE ASCENT OF MONT BLANC.—"Lately," says the Abeille de Chamounix "the cannon at the Royal Hotel announced the arrival at the summit of Mont Blanc of an ascensionist, the first who has this year accomplished the feat. An English gentleman named Kenny, and a Russian, started on this perilous excursion, and the former succeeded in reaching the summit. The same day a melancholy scene took place at the cemetery of Chamounix—the burying of the remains of a human body lately thrown out from a crevasse in the ice of the Glacier des Boissons—a foot covered with flesh, and adhering by the nerves to a dried-up thighbone of one of the three victims of the fatal ascent of Mont Blanc in 1820. By the side of the foot was found a compass probably that of the doctor, and carried by the guide Auguste Tairraz, as stated by the surviving guides, and which fact leaves but little doubt of the identity of the limb now found. Strange to say, it was the grandson of Tairraz who discovered it." The terrible accident so summarily alluded to above, was that which occurred when Colonel Anderson, Dr. [illegible], and their party attempted the ascent, and when Pierre Balmat, Pierre Carriez, and Auguste Tairraz lost their lives by the fall of an avalanche. Several other guides were precipitated at the same time by the falling mass of snow into a crevasse, but ultimately got out. Nothing happened to the gentlemen who were attempting the ascent.

A GENTLEMAN in sailing a few days ago was overset. He was too confident in his swimming to feel alarmed for himself, but did not remember his watch, and has had to pay the price of his accident in the repair of its works.

It is well to know what to do in such a case. As soon as water gets into your watch take the works out at once and dip them in spirits of wine (not camphorated). The spirits penetrate to every part of the works first absorb the water, and thus the fine steel work is preserved from rusting. After the works have been well soaked take them out, and the spirits will evaporate, leaving all dry and unclouded. If spirits of wine, cannot be obtained without delay, oil will do; but not so well, because, as the water will not mix with it, it will still remain in places to which it has penetrated before the oil comes in, and produce rust. Oil, however, will prevent the waste from spreading further, and do much better than nothing.

SNAIL SOUP.—In a gravel-pit, near Sydenham, an Irishman, and his family, once squatted. They built a hovel near the side of the pit, and the man earned large wages as a gravel digger, till he was one day killed by the fall of a bank he was cutting. The widow and children continued to live in the hut and it was remarked that although they had no visible means of subsistence, she and her children were more fat and rosy than any labourer's family in the parish. Hen roosts having been robbed and sheep stolen, suspicion of course fell on the widow; a search warrant was obtained; and the constables finding a good-sized cask, containing what they took to be stolen meat cut up into little morsels, wheeled the cask off on a hand-barrow, and carried the woman off with it to the magistrates, her children following her weeping bitterly. "Oh darling," she said to a friendly youth who passed, "spake for me and the children; it is not mutton, though it's their meat and mine, and has kept death from our door this bitter winter." What it was she would not tell before "them blackguards," the constables. But when the magistrates had inspected the barrel, and also declared its contents not to be mutton, asked her to tell what it did contain, in order to clear herself of all suspicion she replied, "send them fellows away, and I will tell your honour." To the magistrate's private ear she accordingly confided that she and her children were living on salted slugs. She had seen them given to a young man in Ireland sick of consumption and he throve and got quite fat upon them. When destitute, she thought that what had been so good for him might feed her children. First, she tried them fresh and finding that the children throve, she took to salting them. Her way was to drop them into boiling water, and afterwards lay them with salt in a cask. She and her children had prepared two casks full, which had fed them all the winter, and the cask now seized contained the remainder of her store. The poor woman's secret was kept from the constables, but told to a few of the neighbouring gentry, who subscribed that the widow might not in future want bread.—"All the Year Round."

A Montevideo Correspondent.

One of our most valued friends has taken the liberty to censure us for publishing some news unfavourable to President Berro, which he finds rather contradictory to our previous advocacy of the cause of order. In such times as these, when the "Reforma" and "Tribuna" give imaginary victories and defeats daily, it is easily understood that we may be imposed on. We have no party-feeling, but simply respect for existing governments, whether the President be called Berro or Flores, as we are perfectly regardless of persons. We publish with the most perfect imperturbability any news that comes, and beg our correspondent will furnish us with intelligence, on the understanding that we abhor the Blancos and detest the Colorados, seeking only the prosperity and advancement of the Oriental Republic, its settlers and citizens.

GROSS FRAUD.

We have received the following statement from a highly respectable mercantile source.

At a recent auction by Mr. Bonorino 20 barrels of refined sugar were sold; the purchasers discovered, next day, that said sugar was largely mixed with Marble-dust. Notice was given to the Police, to pursue the swindlers, and the reply given was—that the parties implicated in the matter were too respectable to suffer it to go any further!!!

Owing to the extreme dullness of trade, our money market has remained without change since the sailing of the French mail. Doubloons have remained unchanged almost in value, and paper money has fluctuated less in the last fortnight than heretofore. Paper money is very abundant notwithstanding that the bank burnt recently over two millions. Exchange on England opened at 67 shillings, but as takers became more numerous than was expected, exchange declined to 66s. The total amount of Exchange passed is estimated at £ .00,000.

Antwerp—The vessels on the berth have only room for a few bales. Dry hides are getting abundant.

France—Very little doing, but the French packets having their cargoes engaged; and no other vessels loading for Havre, freights must improve both for Havre and Marseilles.

United States—During the last few days engagements for this destination have fallen off.

Freight in general—We cannot expect any material improvement in freights for the next month or six weeks, when if arrivals continue as moderate as during the last few months, rates will rule high.

ON 'CHANGE.

September 25.

Ounces opened at 434½, with a downward tendency. A few sales were effected between the brokers, but the market could hardly be duller. On 'Change there was a very good attendance, but scarcely a sale of importance was effected in produce.

Seldom have we noticed the money market so easy as at present. This, no doubt is attributable to the great plethora of paper money arising from the utter paralization of trade. We generally experience a great dullness in this month, but never formerly to such an extent as at present. There is positively nothing doing in anything, not even in ounces. No sales have been made for the end of the year, for several days past: this shews clearly how true our observations were respecting public confidence.

On 'Change it was said that Flores had been completely disconcerted, and although not routed, yet obliged to scatter his men and gain the open camps of the frontier. Merchants complain of the tardy efforts of the Government, and say, with much reason, that if the fellow is allowed to prowl about much longer, the Government will lose the sympathy of its warmest supporters. If the Flores revolution cannot be put down by force of arms, then it must be extinguished by ounces. It is the conviction of all true friends of peace that 5000 ounces, and even 15,000 if necessary, should be offered as a reward for his immediate capture.

The old system of overturning legally established governments by revolutions, must be rooted out from amongst us. A constitutional government, legally established, and affording protection to life and property, must be respected at all hazards. These are the sentiments not only of every foreigner, but of every respectable native in the country. No matter what the consequences are, Flores and his tribe must be put down, for peace we want, and peace we must have.
